CVV2 (also known as CVC2 or CID) is a three or four digit value that is uniquely derived for each credit card account. On Visa and MasterCard cards, it is a three digit value printed in reverse italic characters on the signature panel following the last 4 digits of the account number. On American Express cards, it is a four digit value printed on the front of the card, usually on the right side. In a card-not-present environment such as the Internet, CVV2 lets a merchant verify that the cardholder does in fact have the card in his or her possession. No prescription is necessary but it is recommended to check with your doctor before using any product.
